An Old Maid's Advice to Girls

It must be exceedingly rare for a woman of forty years old to meet a man whose age, taste, habits and position make their marriage a promis of happiness to both. Such a marriage is to be gratefully rejoiced over if it comes, but it is possible to be happy and useful without it. What I mean to impress on the girls, when I write to them, is that they should make themselves able to stand alone. I'll quote Margaret Fuller's words on that subject to them. With self support possible, unhappy years in the paternal subject to them. With self support possible, unhappy years in the paternal home and many unhappy marriages will be prevented, a happy single life will be made possible, and a happy marriage will be more probable. Concise direction? If I give any they would be like this:

1. Don't waste any time waiting for

2. Den't spend quite so much you earn.

3. To prevent narrowness, master some branch of knowledge not conected with your occupation.
4. To keep your heart warm, love somebody's children. If possible, connect yourself with their care or election.

When married women confide say they will do it much oftener than they confide them to each other—don't let it give you a dark view of married life, or of masculine human nature, Golden Rule.

Ben Butler and Joe Blackburn, of Kentucky, had a little set-to in the Mouse the other day, and Blackburn sat down with Butler's scalp in his vest pocket. The Massachusetts war-rior strode across the floor and in his martial tones said to Blackburn:

"Can I see you privately, sir?
"Certainly, sir," replied Blackburn, drawing himself out to all his length.
"When?"

"Now."

'Follow me," commanded Butler, and he swept out with Blackburn on his Butler made a bee-line for the committee room, ushered in Blackburn, turned the key in the door, and down went his hand into his pistol pocket. Blackburn, stolid as a stone statue, took in the situation, and remarked

"You observe, sir, that my right arm is in a sling."

The hero of New Orleans, unmoved by the disabled arm, and paying no attention to Blackburn's suggestion, proceeded deliberately in his dark design, drew from his pocket a bill for the relief of the Washington Market company, and a half-hour's report on the same, and held Blackburn under lock and key while he tortured him with the reading of both, and addi-tional arguments in favor of the bill. Blackburn denounces the outrage as a cowardly assault on a disabled man, who had been ensnared and brutally treated by a wily enemy.

The First Baby in California.

The following is quoted from an old file of a foothill paper: "It was the Fourth of July, and Downieville celebrated. The stars and stripes floated from a peeled and lofty pine, and the chorus of the anvil had re-echoed through the hills. The house was crowed with the miners; poet, reader, and crator had performed their parts, and the recently organized brass band was giving in boisterous resonance some national anthem, when suddenly there burst out the feeble wail of an anti-feet to the suddenly su infant, first low, then swelling out in all the defiant strength of baby lunga. The band put forth its loudest strains; the baby, excited to renewed exertion, redoubled its vigor. It was nip and tuck between the band and the baby. The young mother did her best to divert the child and hush him, when vert the child and hush him, when from the audience there uprose a brawny miner, and, shaking his fist at the music, cried, 'Hush that infernal band and give the baby a chance!' The band stopped playing, and never did stalwart men listen to sweeter music than those exiles from home and women as they drank in the tones of women as they drank in the tones of the wailing child. The child was hushed upon its mother's breast, and at the word there went up three rous-ing cheers for the first baby of the Northern Sierra."

The kissograph, a new invention will enable lovers to sit ten feet apart and stealthily indulge in osculatory exercises in the presence of the old folks. This is a great desideratum, certainly, but unless each end of the instrument is sweetened with some substance forty times sweeter than the best refined sugar in the market, the kisses will not taste as good as if the old folks were in bed or dozing in the kitchen. Fathers and mothers should cut this out and paste it in their hats.

A dozen men were sitting in a saloon last Sunday when a female voice was heard from an adjacent door step: "Well, good morning, Mrs. Blank. If I had anything on I'd go with you." There was a mad rush for the door, an eager, expectant crowd, with outstretched necks, peering over each other's shoulders in the direction from whence the voice proceeded, and then a return to the vacated chairs, while one of the party asked in a tone of bitter disappointment: "What good does it do a woman to lie in that way, anyhow?"

THE EASTERN CRISIS.

There are but very spare prospects of an amicable peace arrangement in Europe. Bismarck, either hoping for war or tiring of the manifest disposition towards that end, is reported to have withdrawn from the role of mediator. Lord Salisbury limits his objections solely to negative criticisms, and Gortschakoff is feigning illness in order that his apparent persistence may hasten the conflict and make England responsible for the first breach of Rocking the Cradle.

The grand jury of Washoe county sion of Russian and English troops for the April term of the District Court has made a searching investigahas reached such a pitch that even an tion of the acts of county and township officers. Their report is exhaustive and apparently unprejudiced. It has created a sensation in the county, and has given the "cradle of reform" the most thorough rocking it has received since its organization. jury finds that the court records have been signed by the District Judge only once since 1875, and that discrimina-tion is made in allowing the fees of witnesses from the same place and for C. Currie. Governor Bradley's official the same length of time. In the course is approved, but no third termRover case, witnesses were allowed one-fourth more fees at the first trial than they were at the second, and counsel at each trial were allowed $250 more than the limits provided by law; and that an overcharge of $565 was made by the Clerk for furnishing the transcript of the case to the Supreme Court. Looseness in conducting the affairs of the county, and overcharges for services performed are found to be the rule in almost every office in the county. Bills have been paid by the Treasurer before they were presented to the Board of Commissioners. Altogether the report discloses a startling state of affairs, indicating that though Washoe has been loudest in its protes tations against corruption and extrav-agance in office, there is no county in the State of Nevada where reform is needed more, and the energy displayed by the grand jury in unearthing and exposing frauds entitle its members to the thanks of every taxpayer in the county .- Silver State,

And this item shall be of the horse like. No sound man can doubt that spring is approaching at a good spanking gate, in fact that sunshine has the pole and another new . year is coming down the home-stretch, an easy winner over the winter of '77. And now, why do we say all this with such confidence? Why do we take the bit in our mouth and go so fast? Because we have seen every fine horse in the county in town within the past week. Al. Longley's Rifleman, treading about in his high-spirited way; Barnum, the Norman, leaving two-acre tracks in his wake: John Wilson's beautiful each vein; Jack Nelson, with lofty that spring has come and the flowers ought to be in bloom.

CELEBRATION.

Provision Being Made for the Celebration of July 4th.

Last Friday Tom Norcross, who has a lease of the fair grounds, visited Virginia City and talked with all the horse men on the Comstock. In fact he has for some time past been looking into the proposition to have some little fun at Reno for the coming Fourth of July. Being a live man, and as unselfish as he is enterprising, he very properly thought that a few good square races on the 4th, 5th and 6th of July would suit our people, and conduce to the interests of the State Agricultural Society. Here's Mr. Norcross' programme.

Grab Hooks, Nets, Ftc. at Camp 30. From a gentleman recently from Camp 20 we learn that a large quantity of trout are being caught at the dam near that place, and that they are caught for the most part in a manner in violation of the laws protecting the fish of this State. Our informant says that several thousand pounds are being shipped each week from the above point. If our informant be correct, and we can not question the authority, this gross infringement of grey, Nevada, carrying a hostler on the law should be looked into without delay. The Fish Commissioner can not stride taking his exercise, and others take up his residence on the Truckce equally famous, coming after spring and give his sole attention to the proshoes and trimming. THE NEW FURNACE. - The new furnace was fired up last evening, and a quantity of ore from Oreans and the Bevelheimer exposed to the fiery of crude bullion, weighing nearly 100 lbs, was obtained. The furnace choked somewhat about 11 o'clock, and no bullion was therefore obtained up to a late hour this forenoon. District Court.

The jury in the case of the State vs. L. Woodward et al, returned a verdict of acquittal at 6 o'clock last evening. It appears there was little doubt as to haps, even most of the jury, but the State did not introduce any testimony acquittal of the accused. Ah Sam, who broke jail at the same time, was not tried at this time, because of a separate indictment by the grand jury on a separate complaint by the District Attorney. By the most technical interpretation of the law the cases of Fong and Sam might be tried separately, but in justice to the county and to the defendents, both cases should have been tried together, since the offenses are identical and the evidence is essentially so. Both were confined for the same crime, and both broke jail at the same time. By reason of the separate trials the county pays an extra cost of about $75 00. The tax payer naturally says, wherefore?

Justice Court.

Yesterday morning Sheriff Lamb arrested Ah Hin and Ah Shon for riding faster than a walk over the county bridge. The Celestials gave bond of $100 for their appearance in The races for second and third days the Justice Court at 10 o'clock this morning. At 11 o'clock to-day Constable Barlow swore out a complaint against the Chinamen, and a few minutes thereafter the Chinese interpreter, by order of the Justice, brought in the accused. Tom Hymers appeared in behalf of the erring Celestials, and after a short consultation with his clients, statement was made in open Court that Ah Hin plead guilty and Ah Shon not guilty. Ex-Justice Gilson here appeared as assistant counsel and inquired as to what would be the probable costs in the case. Justice Richardson informed him that he would fine Hin $1 and costs, total $13, and would set for trial at 4 P. M. the case of Shon. Gilson thought the Court had overcharged in the matter of costs, and your reporter is of the opinion that the Justice mistook the statute in favor of high costs. Mr. Hymers poured oil on the troubled waters, and said that he would be re-
